GENERAL INFORMATION

USE OF THE AMERICAN MOTORS AUTOMOTIVE PARTS DIVISION PARTS CATALOG

This American Motors Automotive Parts Division Parts Catalog is arranged in Sections, Indexes and Groups as indicated in the Quick Reference Thumb Index on the Catalog inside cover. A complete study of the General Information Section which consists of pertinent information, as well as a thorough study of the overall layout of all Catalog Sections will prove most helpful in locating parts listings for information and ordering.

A group system of listing and locating parts is used in American Motors Automotive Parts Division Parts Cataloging and is briefly explained as follows:

Main units of the car are identified by the Number preceding the decimal in any group number. Example:

ENGINE	1.
COOLING	2.
ELECTRICAL	3.
FUEL-EXHAUST	4.
CLUTCH	5.

Individual Parts are assigned a group number. The first number identifies the main unit it is affiliated with. Following the decimal is the sub-group number under which all parts of the same name and function or their attaching parts are listed. Example: Group 1.059 HEAD, Cylinder: "1." indicates that it is an engine part, ".059" is the sub-group number under location in the Parts Catalog where all part numbers of cylinder heads for the years and models covered by this catalog can be located.

Although, due to their nature and use, many parts may appear in more than one group in this catalog, each part is assigned an identifying primary group number. This is the number under which the part is priced in the American Motors Automotive Parts Division Parts Price List, listed in the Dealer Parts Order Pad, listed on Parts Storage Location Labels and stored in American Motors Automotive Parts Division Warehouses and Dealerships. Parts should always be ordered by their identifying primary group number, part number and noun name.

To locate the listing of a part refer to the group number identifying it. This group number is determined by using any of the following methods:

1. Refer to the general index on pages 2 and 3 and locate the major group number of the part needed. Then use the thumb index on page 1 and find that groups corresponding black tab in the catalog. This tab indicates the alphabetical index which precedes that group. This index lists all major parts in that group and indicates the sub group no. under which they may be found. Reference is also made to any illustrations of them which may be found in the catalog. The Illustrations show the group number by which the part or assembly can be located, and its noun name. This group number as shown is not necessarily the primary group number.

Illustrations representing a group are found immediately following that group's index.

Minor parts not indexed can be found either illustrated with or listed near co-related parts.

2. Consult the American Motors Automotive Parts Division Parts Price List if a part number is known, and use its primary group number to locate the part or similar part in the catalog.

The group headings quote the group number and the noun and descriptive names of the major part or parts listed under the particular group headings.

In some instances, more than one noun name, separated by hyphens will be listed in a group heading. Example: 1.004 BRACKET - CROSSMEMBER, Engine Front Support. This method of listing is used where more than one major part by name, kind or function is listed under the particular group to improve the quick reference to parts listings.

Also under some group headings, where the parts listings are lengthy, the group has been divided and sub-headings quoted to provide an easier reference to parts listings in the group. Example: 12.075 FENDER-NAME PLATE, Front. The sub-heading under this group is: PLATE, Front Fender Name.

The description column quotes the noun name or noun and descriptive name of the part and/or other pertinent descriptive information. To provide an easier reference to parts listings in a group, parts listed immediately below like parts do not repeat identical descriptive information.

In some instances a secondary name will be quoted in a parts listing in parentheses. Example: WRENCH (Handle, Jack). This method of listing is used where the part is known by more than one name or has more than one function and/or listing in the Catalog.

The column headed "Per Car" indicates the number of pieces required. The term "AR" indicates "as required" and where this "AR" is definite for a given year and model the actual number of pieces required will be quoted together with the "Description" of the part.

EFFECTIVE POINT OF CHANGE

When chassis or body parts are superseded in production and are only used part of a model year, reference is made to notes which are printed at the bottom of the same page on which the group heading covered by the note appears. These notes quote the car Serial number, Engine number or Body number at which the change became effective. In some cases when these numbers are not available those notes may contain a physical description of each type of parts used.

The car is known to the factory only by the car Serial number. All communications regarding any particular car must always include the car Serial number for identification purposes.

The Serial number is located on a plate attached to the top of the right wheelhouse panel, under the hood.

The Body number together with the model number, trim number and paint number is located on a separate plate on the cowl panel adjacent to the Serial number plate.

The Engine number of 59 01: 59 10 "Rambler" models is stamped on a machined surface at the upper left front corner of the Cylinder Block. The Engine number of 59 20-80 "Rambler" models is stamped on the front upper right corner of the Cylinder Block. For service reference the Engine number is duplicated on the generator mounting bracket. A Service Engine can be identified by a letter "S" appearing before or after the regular engine number.

CATALOG CHANGES AND REVISIONS

American Motors Automotive Parts Division Parts Catalog Change Notice, Form F-1977-R, is published periodically to provide information relative to recent parts listing changes, additions, substitution, discontinuations, corrections, etc.

Revised Catalog pages which will be imprinted with the "Revision No." and "Page No." will be provided to replace those pages on which changes have been made. It is imperative that revised catalog pages be inserted into the Catalogs affected as soon as received to reflect the current status of parts listings.

ORDERING PARTS BY TELEGRAM

In Canada and some other export countries there is an advantage in the cost of a telegram if code is used in place of part numbers. This no longer applies to Domestic telegrams inasmuch as the cost of a five digit part number is the same as a five letter code word.

However, there is a decided advantage in using codes for commonly used phrases covering shipping instructions as follows:

YANKL	Emergency order car tied up.
YAM	Ship by Parcel Post

YANK	Ship by Parcel Post C.O.D.
YAMS	Ship by Parcel Post Special Delivery.
YAMX	Ship by Parcel Post Special Delivery C.O.D.
